No. C-07-06053 EDL

10 v.

ORDER REGARDING DISCOVERY
LETTERS

11 SUN MICROSYSTEMS INC,
12 Defendant.

14 On March 6, 2009, Sun Microsystems, Inc. filed a letter seeking the Court's involvement in 15 setting additional discovery deadlines in light of the upcoming April 24, 2009 fact discovery
16 deadline. On March 9, 2009, Network Appliance, Inc. filed a response to Sun's letter, further
17 detailing a substantive discovery dispute between the parties. It is hereby ordered that both 18 unilateral letters are STRICKEN. The parties are ordered to further meet and confer regarding the 19 issues detailed in both letters and attempt to resolve these issues without Court involvement. After 20 the parties meet and confer, they may file a joint letter not to exceed five pages no later than March 21 13, 2009 briefing any unresolved discovery scheduling issues. To the extent the parties have any 22 remaining substantive discovery issues, they must address these in a properly noticed motion and 23 request shortened time if appropriate. The Court makes no judgment as to whether any documents
24 have been improperly withheld. However, if the Court ultimately finds that certain documents were 25 improperly withheld, this may subject certain witnesses to redeposition.
